

Contributing Authors

Mike Boone is a Professor in the Education and Community Leadership program, Texas State University-San Marcos, San Marcos, Texas. His research interests include the superintendency, leadership, and rural education.

Richard A. Brosio is professor emeritus, Ball State University, Muncie, Indiana. He has served as lecturer and visiting scholar at the University of Wisconsin Milwaukee since the summer of 2000. He remains active in social foundations and philosophy of education. Professor Brosio earned his Ph.D. at the University of Michigan.

Kurt W. Clausen is an associate professor of the Faculty of Education and past chair of Graduate Studies, Nipissing University, Nipissing, Ontario, Canada. He presently teaches pre-service courses in curriculum development and is the editor of the on-line journal, The Ontario Action Researcher. His research interests include educational leadership, the history of the curriculum, and alternative curriculum models.

Aaron Cooley teaches in the School of Graduate and Professional Studies, New England College, Hillsboro, New Hampshire. He has mentored, tutored, and taught students in a range of diverse educational settings. His writings have appeared in Educational Studies and Political Studies Review.

Kathleen Fite is Professor of Education in the Department of Curriculum and Instruction, Texas State University-San Marcos, San Marcos, Texas. Her research interests include child development, teaching, and learning.

Youngjoo Kim is an Assistant Professor in the Department of Teacher Development and Educational Studies, School of Education and Human Services, Oakland University, Rochester, Michigan. Her research interests include curriculum theorizing, cultural studies, multicultural education, and teacher education. Her recent works have been published in Journal of Curriculum and Pedagogy, Journal of Research in International Education, and Curriculum and Teaching Dialogue.

Theodore J. Kowalski is Professor and the Kuntz Family Chair in Educational Administration, the University of Dayton, Dayton, Ohio. He is the author of 23 books and numerous research studies and journal articles. His most recent books are Data-Driven Decisions and School Leadership, the Handbook of Data-Based Decision Making in Education, The School Principal, and School Public Relations. His primary lines of research include district and school administration, communication and school-community relations, and decision theory.

Robert F. Reardon is an Assistant Professor in the Education Ph.D. program, Texas State University-San Marcos, San Marcos, Texas. His research interests include quantitative research methods, continuing professional development, and science education K-16.

James Trier is an Associate Professor in the School of Education, the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, Chapel Hill, North Carolina. His articles about education and film and television have appeared in Teacher Education Quarterly; Interchange; Teaching and Teacher Education; Race, Ethnicity and Education; and the Journal of Adolescent and Adult Literacy.