

Contributing Authors

Dennis Attick is Associate Professor of Teacher Education at Clayton State University. His research interests include the corporate influences on schools, ethics in teaching, and integrating theory and practice for improved teacher professionalism. Email address: DennisAttick@clayton.edu

Deron Boyles is Professor of Philosophy of Education at Georgia State University. His interests include school commercialism, epistemology, and the philosophy of John Dewey. Email address: dboyles@gsu.edu

Melissa Brevetti is a recent graduate earning her Ph.D. in Educational Leadership and Policy Studies at the University of Oklahoma. Her doctoral dissertation focused on moral experiences in historical contexts, and her research emphasis includes moral education, religious identities, multicultural education, and qualitative inquiry. Email address: melissa.a.brevetti-1@ou.edu

Lesla N. Presley is a member of the biology faculty at Schreiner University and a doctoral student in Curriculum and Instruction at Texas Tech University. Email address: lesa.n.presley@ttu.edu

Connor K. Warner is an Assistant Professor of Teacher Education in the Division of Teacher Education & Curriculum Studies at the University of Missouri-Kansas City. He is a former high school English department chair and social studies instructor. Email address: warnerck@umkc.edu

Amy R. Williams teaches in the Early Childhood and Special Education program at the University of North Georgia. Her research focuses on literacy instruction and achievement for children with disabilities. Email address: amy.williams@ung.edu